CHALLENGES

1. Data are scattered and incomplete

The activity records of overseas Chinese from Southeast Asia in Hong Kong often only appear in donation lists or short news in newspapers and periodicals, lacking systematic organization.

Solution:

Using AI tools, build a small relational database using people's names, places, and organizations.

2. Mixed language and writing systems

Inconsistent spelling of names in English files (such as "Li Sing" and "Li Sheng") affect network construction.

Solution:

Create a system table file, find the names, compare and make changes.
